

21 AMERICANS ARE CAPTURED

Casualty List Contains 447
Names, of Which 29 Are Among the Dead.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Acting upon cabled instructions from Secretary Baker, the war department last night resumed publication of the daily list of casualties among the American expeditionary forces. Lists which had accumulated between April 2 when the practice was temporarily discontinued, and April 8, were made public, and it was stated officially that the casualties would be announced regularly hereafter.

Four hundred and forty-seven American soldiers were killed or wounded in action, died of various causes or were captured by the enemy in the six-day period covered in the reports issued tonight. The heaviest toll for a single day since the first American soldiers landed in France was shown by the list of April 5, which contained 124 names.

Specific reference is made to 21 men having been captured by the Germans. Twenty of these previously had been reported missing and one previously reported dead.

Unusual Activity. During the past week correspondents with the American forces have reported unusual enemy activity on the fronts where the Americans are in the trenches, the dispatches of Sunday referring to the heavy artillery bombardment of the trenches held by General Pershing's men. A number of the casualties reported are believed to have occurred among the engineer units that took part in the great battle in Picardy.

Issuing of daily casualty lists was suspended after receipt of a general order from Secretary Baker in France that in future all news relating to the expeditionary forces must come from the headquarters of General Pershing. While it was not believed the order was intended to refer to the casualty lists, acting Secretary Crowell and Major General March, acting chief of staff, decided to hold them up until a formal ruling could be obtained from Mr. Baker.

Want Addresses. Pressure still is being exercised to have published the home addresses and next of kin of each man named in the casualty lists. President Wilson is understood to have the matter under consideration now, but is expected to withhold final decision until he has had an opportunity to discuss the matter with Secretary Baker on the latter's return from Europe.

The combined lists show:
Killed in action, 18.
Died of wounds, 11.

page of 2,762,605. Of these 322 fly the American flags while 68 are chartered by shippers of neutral nations. The American ships have a carrying capacity of 2,365,344 tons.

In addition to the present fleet, there are 471,000 tons of Dutch ships still to be put into service as soon as crews can be provided. Ships built in America for the shipping board will swell the total still further, as the building program begins to show cumulative results during the summer.

When the ship control committee was established January 20, to have American ports, it was hoped that centralized control would mean in effect the addition of 1,000,000 tons to the shipping facilities available for the transportation of men, munitions and food to fight the kaiser. In two months that object has been achieved by having one force to guide the American, allied and neutral ships trading in American ports.

American Lecturers. He added, however, that indications are that in the near future General Pershing's men will be actively opposing the Germans in their supreme effort on the western front.

The purpose of the German high command in its thrust, Mr. Crowell said, is to drive a wedge between the British and French armies, roll up the former force to the sea and capture the channel ports. No Bavarian or Austrian troops have been employed in the battle, the speaker asserted, the German leaders depending upon the Prussian troops—the flower of their army, to carry through the victory.

"The situation will be serious for a long time," Mr. Crowell declared. "The Germans have been going well and only heavy rainstorms have prevented them from making further progress."

Regarding America's airplane program, Mr. Crowell said there are more than 1000 qualified American army flyers in France and that 1000 machines have been procured from the French and Italians.

"When you hear of American soldiers defending themselves from German airplanes with their pistols, you need not believe it," the speaker said. Andre Tardieu, French high commissioner to the United States, said that to crush the German military machine, allied unity must extend beyond military command, that it must be applied to war supplies, to food and to shipping.

France has been able to furnish the American forces with artillery, machine guns and airplanes, M. Hardieu said, and thus America has been allowed a sufficient length of time to start her own production.

Speaking of France's sacrifices, he said 1,300,000 French soldiers have been killed in action or died of wounds and that another 1,000,000 have been maimed, invalidated or captured.

ers, but the federal agents are expected to accomplish something in co-operation with state authorities.

Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby of Illinois, told Mr. Gregory and John Lord O'Brien, special assistant to the attorney general for war work, that federal aid was imperative to check increasing instances of mob violence against disloyalists, particularly in the mining districts of southern Illinois.

While the recent lynching of a German at Collinsville, Ill., probably hastened the decision of the Illinois officials to seek federal support, it is understood that any part of the department of justice agents may play in investigating this particular case will be only incidental to a general plan of co-operation.

The attorney general's representatives will report to Governor Lowden at Springfield for preliminary conference before undertaking their work.

GREAT INCREASE IN SHIP TONNAGE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—An increase of 20 per cent in the amount of tonnage shipped across the Atlantic in March was gained through close co-operation of the ship control committee, the shipping board and the war department in directing the movement of traffic. Officials confidently predicted today that the efficiency in handling was growing and would mean a gain of 30 per cent in tonnage during April.

The strength of the non-fighting fleet which the United States contributed to the aid of the allies, became known today for the first time. A total of 32 American vessels or vessels under American control are in the trans-Atlantic trade with a ton-
